

AlphaFlash® Fitch Ratings

Low latency, machine-readable Fitch ratings

AlphaFlash Fitch Ratings provides Fitch ratings to automated traders, analysts, asset managers, hedge funds and risk managers operating in a low latency trading and risk management environment.

The information is made available in machine-readable format via multicast and TCP and can be used to set algorithms to execute financial trading strategies.

Fitch rating actions include upgrades, downgrades and affirmations, as well as changes in outlook and rating watch.

Key benefits

- The feed provides the fastest available access to machine-readable Fitch rating announcements
- Designed for easy direct integration into trading algorithms
- Available in data centers across the globe
